

Story last updated at 11:59 a.m. on August 12, 2004

Small business-related awards given

Ten awards were distributed Tuesday as part of a small business appreciation luncheon hosted by BWXT Y-12 and Bechtel Jacobs Co.

The two government contractors honored the nine businesses and one individual for their performance and support of the companies socioeconomic programs and small business offices.

Paul Parson/Staff

Mike Twine, left, chief executive officer, and James Henkel, president, both of G2 Engineering and Management Inc., pose with the Small Disadvantaged Business Award they received Tuesday from BWXT Y-12.

Frances Hickey, a Y-12 National Security Complex employee, was given the Small Business Advocate Award by BWXT Y-12 - the company that manages the Y-12. Hickey has a 41-year track record of procurement experience as an aid to small businesses.

BWXT Y-12 also presented the following awards:

- * Small Business Award - Safety and Ecology Corp.
- * Small Disadvantaged Business Award – G2 Engineering and Management Inc.
- * Woman-owned Small Business - Business Interiors Inc.
- * HUBZone Small Business Award - Integrated Solutions and Services Inc.
- * AVID Award - Oak Ridge Automotive and Industrial Supply Inc. Bechtel Jacobs, which oversees the Department of Energy's Oak Ridge cleanup efforts, presented the following awards:
- * Small Business Award - Industrial Products and Services Group Inc.
- * Small Disadvantaged Business Award - Walls Electrical General Contracting Inc.
- * Woman-owned Small Business Award - Miller Drilling Co. Inc.
- * Large Business Award - Science Applications International Corp.

http://www.oakridger.com/stories/081204/new_2004_0812030.shtml